

Media Literacy in the Greek Context

Media Literacy · Practice Test · 8 Questions

1. Which of Aristotle's three modes of persuasion specifically refers to the appeal to the audience's emotions?

- A) Ethos
- B) Pathos
- C) Logos
- D) Kairos

2. During the Greek military junta (1967-1974), which practice was systematically used to control public information?

- A) Open-source journalism
- B) State-mandated pre-publication censorship
- C) Decentralized pirate radio
- D) Mandatory digital literacy training

3. In ancient Athens, what was the term for a professional accuser who often used deceptive rhetoric to manipulate public opinion in court?

- A) Sophist
- B) Demagogue
- C) Sycophant
- D) Logographer

4. What is the name of the independent authority responsible for regulating the content of radio and television in Greece?

- A) National Council for Radio and Television (ESR)
- B) Hellenic Telecommunications Commission (EETT)
- C) Ministry of Digital Governance
- D) Athens News Agency

5. According to the 2023 Reuters Institute Digital News Report, how does Greece compare to most other EU countries regarding trust in news?

- A) Highest trust levels in Europe
- B) Complete government control of news
- C) Consistently one of the lowest trust levels
- D) Middle-ranking trust level

6. Under the EU's Digital Services Act (DSA), which applies in Greece, what must 'Very Large Online Platforms' (VLOPs) disclose to improve user literacy?

- A) The identities of all anonymous users
- B) The logic behind their recommendation algorithms
- C) The home addresses of their moderators
- D) Their daily electricity consumption

7. Which group of 5th-century BCE Greek teachers was famously criticized by Socrates and Plato for teaching the art of persuasion regardless of the truth?

- A) The Stoics
- B) The Epicureans
- C) The Sophists
- D) The Peripatetics

8. What specific term is often used in Greek media studies to describe the 'intertwining' of business, politics, and media ownership?

- A) Diaploki
- B) Oikos
- C) Politeia
- D) Agathos