

EU Tech Horizon 2026: AI Act, Space Missions, and Green Deal Accelerate

EU Tech · Practice Test · 8 Questions

1. Which major EU regulation, governing the development and use of Artificial Intelligence, is expected to be fully applicable across the EU by August 2026?

- A) The Digital Services Act
- B) The EU AI Act
- C) The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)
- D) The Cybersecurity Act

2. What is the name of the joint European Space Agency (ESA) and Chinese Academy of Sciences mission scheduled for launch in May 2026?

- A) JUICE
- B) Euclid
- C) PLATO
- D) SMILE

3. The European Commission has scheduled its 'tech sovereignty package', including proposals on cloud infrastructure and semiconductors, for adoption in May 2026. What is the proposed date for this package?

- A) May 5, 2026
- B) May 15, 2026
- C) May 27, 2026
- D) May 31, 2026

4. The EU's AI Act aims to ensure AI systems are safe, transparent, and non-discriminatory. What is the core approach used by the AI Act to regulate AI systems?

- A) A technology-based approach
- B) A risk-based approach
- C) A company-size-based approach
- D) A sector-specific approach

5. Which upcoming technology conference in Amsterdam in May 2026 focuses on web development and frontend technologies?

- A) Sovereign Tech Europe
- B) Aerospace Tech Week Europe
- C) DEVWorld 2026
- D) SmallSat Europe

6. The European Green Deal aims for climate neutrality. By what year does the EU legally bind itself to achieve climate neutrality?

- A) 2030
- B) 2040
- C) 2050
- D) 2055

7. The EU AI Act introduces rules for General-Purpose AI (GPAI) models. When did these rules become applicable?

- A) February 2025
- B) August 2025
- C) February 2026
- D) August 2026

8. Which directive is being transposed by multiple EU Member States in 2026, aiming to increase the baseline of cybersecurity across the Union?

- A) The NIS2 Directive
- B) The GDPR
- C) The Cyber Resilience Act
- D) The ePrivacy Directive