

China's June 2026: Dragon Boat Festival, G7 Summit, and Economic Policy In

China Politics · Practice Test · 8 Questions

1. In June 2026, which traditional Chinese holiday, known for its dragon boat races and zongzi, will be celebrated?

- A) Qingming Festival
- B) Mid-Autumn Festival
- C) Dragon Boat Festival
- D) Lantern Festival

2. Where will the G7 Summit be held in June 2026?

- A) Tokyo, Japan
- B) Évian-les-Bains, France
- C) Berlin, Germany
- D) Rome, Italy

3. What is the expected GDP growth target range for China in 2026, as announced during the Two Sessions?

- A) 3.5%-4.5%
- B) 4.5%-5%
- C) 5.5%-6.5%
- D) 6.5%-7.5%

4. In June 2026, Hong Kong is expected to launch a public consultation for its inaugural five-year plan to align with China's national blueprint. Which five-year plan is this?

- A) 13th Five-Year Plan
- B) 14th Five-Year Plan
- C) 15th Five-Year Plan
- D) 16th Five-Year Plan

5. The Trump-Xi summit in Beijing is scheduled for May 2026. Which of the following is a key issue expected to be on the agenda?

- A) Climate change cooperation
- B) Taiwan
- C) Space exploration
- D) Cultural exchange programs

6. Which of the following is NOT one of China's seven official public holidays in 2026?

- A) Chinese New Year
- B) Dragon Boat Festival
- C) Labor Day
- D) Valentine's Day

7. In June 2026, which political party's oldest and largest pro-democracy party in Hong Kong announced it would be disbanding?

- A) Civic Party
- B) League of Social Democrats
- C) Democratic Party
- D) Labour Party

8. The 2026 Government Work Report (GWR) indicates that China's macro policy stance for 2026 will revolve around two core ideas. What are they?

- A) Aggressive expansion and strict regulation
- B) Stability with progress and integrating stock and incremental policy tools
- C) Technological dominance and global trade war
- D) Domestic consumption and international isolation