

Bloom's Taxonomy Basics

Education · Answer Key · 10 Questions

1. What is Bloom's Taxonomy primarily a framework for?

- A) Categorizing educational goals
- B) Developing student personalities
- C) Measuring teacher performance
- D) Structuring school budgets

2. Who chaired the committee that developed Bloom's Taxonomy?

- A) Benjamin Franklin
- B) John Dewey
- C) Benjamin Bloom
- D) Maria Montessori

3. In what year was Bloom's Taxonomy first developed?

- A) 1945
- B) 1956
- C) 1968
- D) 1972

4. What was the title of the publication that first introduced Bloom's Taxonomy?

- A) Educational Goals: A New Approach
- B) The Classification of Learning
- C) Taxonomy of Educational Objectives: The Classification of Educational Goals
- D) Learning Objectives for the 21st Century

5. How many broad domains does Bloom's Taxonomy divide learning objectives into?

- A) Two
- B) Three
- C) Four
- D) Five

6. Which domain of learning objectives in Bloom's Taxonomy is knowledge-based?

- A) Affective
- B) Psychomotor
- C) Cognitive
- D) Emotional

7. The affective domain in Bloom's Taxonomy is primarily concerned with what?

- A) Physical skills
- B) Knowledge acquisition
- C) Emotional responses
- D) Problem-solving strategies

8. Which domain deals with action-based skills and abilities?

- A) Cognitive
- B) Affective
- C) Psychomotor
- D) Experiential

9. What do educators use Bloom's Taxonomy for?

- A) To track student attendance
- B) To manage school finances
- C) To structure curricula, assessments, and teaching methods
- D) To organize parent-teacher conferences

10. Each domain in Bloom's Taxonomy contains a hierarchy of what?

- A) Learning theories
- B) Teaching styles
- C) Skills and abilities
- D) Student interests