

Biology in the Cosmos

Biology · Practice Test · 2 Questions

1. What essential element forms the basic structure of all known life forms and is sought after by astrobiologists on other planets?

- A) Carbon
- B) Neon
- C) Helium
- D) Argon

2. Why is liquid water considered crucial for life as we know it, especially when searching for life beyond Earth?

- A) It's a universal solvent and helps transport nutrients.
- B) It can be compressed into a solid form.
- C) It makes plants green.
- D) It is an excellent conductor of electricity.