

Biological Psychology and Health

Psychology · Practice Test · 3 Questions

1. Where is the majority of the human body's serotonin produced?

- A) Gastrointestinal tract
- B) Brain stem
- C) Adrenal glands
- D) Thyroid gland

2. Which brain structure, located in the temporal lobe, plays a central role in consolidating short-term memory into long-term memory?

- A) Amygdala
- B) Hippocampus
- C) Cerebellum
- D) Basal ganglia

3. Which branch of the autonomic nervous system is primarily responsible for triggering the 'fight-or-flight' response during acute stress?

- A) Sympathetic nervous system
- B) Parasympathetic nervous system
- C) Somatic nervous system
- D) Enteric nervous system